TOP 10 SOFT SKILLS FOR THE FUTURE OF WORK

About

LEADER is an Erasmus+ project which aims to support students in Vocational Education and Training (VET) to develop appropriate soft skills, allowing them to take control of their careers.

Following extensive research, including interviews with VET students and companies, the LEADER project partners have identified the most important soft skills for the future of work.

These will help feed into the real-world, decision-making scenarios which will be featured in the upcoming serious game, demonstrating how specific skills work in different work situations.

1. COMMUNICATION
2. LISTENING
3. LEADERSHIP
4. ADAPTABILITY
5. EMPATHY
6. DECISION-MAKING
7. TIME MANAGEMENT
8. COLLABORATION
9. CREATIVITY
10. PROBLEM-SOLVING

Updates

Project's website -

The project's website is now live, serving as a one-stop-shop for students as well as academic / in-company trainers to learn more about the project and access the resources which are currently being developed to promote soft skills development.

Partners' meeting -

The third transnational project meeting was once again held online due to the imposed precautionary measures linked to the COVID-19 crisis. This took place in September 2020, during which the project partners discussed the 'Implementation Guide for Teachers and Trainers'.

Upcoming

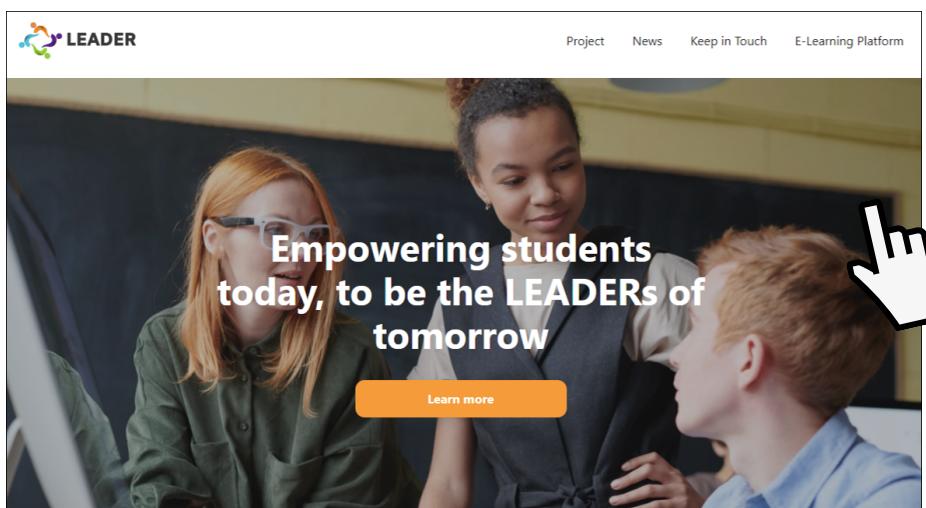

E-learning platform -

This is currently under construction and will be shortly made available on the project's website.

It will provide access to the project's outcomes, including:

- soft skills curriculum for VET students
- guidebook for teachers / trainers on soft skills development teaching
- innovative serious game
